

The Accredited Membership of the Stained Glass Association of America

The objectives of the Association shall be:

To function as the recognized organization of distinction and to conduct its affairs in a manner that will reflect credit upon its image and craft;

To maintain the highest possible standards for excellence in craftsmanship, integrity and business practices;

To provide facilities offering active membership participation, extensive craft training, organizational and craft-related information, and trade-related consulting and documentary services;

To research and develop new products, processes and techniques for the advancement of innovative craft expression;

To act as the authoritative historian and archivist for its craft in America;

To defend and protect its craft against unwarranted regulation restricting its freedom of use as an architectural art form.

From the forming of the first craft guilds in the middle ages, those who practice in a given field have banded together, both for the good of their profession and for the good of their patrons.

Today, such groups continue to exist and function. These groups strive to uphold their profession, to regulate it and insure that it is practiced in such a way as to reflect honor upon the profession. This is done with the understanding that such practices will help guarantee the patrons of the craft that the product and services they purchase are of the highest standard and thereby both advance the reputation of the profession and insure that it can continue to be practiced with dignity and pride.

The Stained Glass Association of America is such an organization. We encourage not only our members but all involved in the profession of stained glass to maintain the highest possible standard of quality and craftsmanship. The pinnacle of membership in our organization is the Accredited Studio level. These members meet and exceed the rigorous requirements and expectations of the SGAA.

The Seal of the Stained Glass Association of America is our symbol of pride in craftsmanship and dedication to quality. Only the Accredited Members of the Stained Glass Association of America may display the Association Seal.

Before choosing a stained glass studio, make certain that it is an Accredited Member of the Stained Glass Association of America. The studio's accreditation is proof that it has met the SGAA's high standards and is your best guarantee that the studio is dedicated to quality and workmanship.
